Again the Newfoundland sprang at him. This time it buried its teeth deep into his right cheek, laying the fiesh open to the bone. Hageman tore himself lobes and tried to hold the animal. Man and dog struggled about the dark hallway until Hageman was forced to let go of the brute and fell back almost exhausted. With a growl the dog sprang again at its master, and fastered its fangs on his right arm, causing an ugly wound and tearing the coat sleeve into shreds. Hageman shook the dog off by beating it over the head with his gloved fist, and then hastilly retreated through the front door. He ran around to the Flatbush police station and told the ntory of his struggle to the sergeant at the desk.

Hageman was taken in a patrol wagon to the Jospital, and four policemen were ordered to go around and shoot the dog. "Don't do that," cried Hageman from

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19,-The crying a baby was the primary cause of a ny windows, and Mrs. Annie Charles, who conducts the lodging-house, also went through a window with her clothing all ablase.

She smothered the burning ciothing and found that beyond a burn on her left arm and several cuts on her right wrist, she was all right. When the baby cried, Mrs. Charles went downstairs with an oil lamp. She tripped on the stairway. The lamp exploded, spreading the burning oil over the carpet. Mrs.
Charles ran to her bedroom, took two of her children under her arms and managed to get them safely into a rear yard.
Another tug and the children were all

RED PEPPER IN THE FURNACE

An Incipient Panie at a Public Meeting in New Rochelle.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 19. Charles H. Clarke, who claims to be a follower of Bob Ingersoll, and who is opposed to Evangelist Thomas Murphy, held forth last night at the Town Hall. As Mr. Clarke got thoroughly warmed up with he subject smoke issued from the registers connected with the hotair furnace in the basement. It filled the room. The audience became panicatricken and rushed downstairs pelimeli. Clarke came tearing down after them. Judge Valentine went downstairs quicker than he had ever gone before. The County Clerk's office was also filled with smoke. The entire building was emptied in quick time.

In the village lock-up were confined thirty-five tramps and two criminals. The smoke got into their cells. They anrieked and the noise could be heard several blocks away.

The prisoners were all taken to a private house and locked up. Clarke found a package of cayenne pepper on the floor near the furnace. The smoke was caused by the pepper. registers connected with the hot-

SENATOR E. L. ROSS TESTIFIES.

Dr.Copeland's Success in His Case and That of His Wife and Daughter.

Congressman Clark Testifies to the Success of the Copeland Mail Treatment ... The Purpose for Which the Testimony of Prominent People Is Cited.

From E. L. Ross. State Senator of New Jersay, states for the benefit of ather anferers the success with which the Copeland specialists treated his wife, Mrs. Annie Ross, his daughter, Miss Bertin Ross, and himself, at their offices.

Hon. Charles N. Chark, who succeeds the famous "Farmer" Hatch in the National Congress from Missouri, was formerly Adjutanti-General of the Department of Missouri, and achieved a national reputation in connection with the Mississippl improvements, has been taking a course of mail treatment with the Copeland specialists, and has written a lotter aunonneing his residence to Capeland treatment by mail.

These statements from well-known gentlemen emphasize the success of both the important branches of the Copeland work. The Catarrh in my own case," said Senator Ross, "was sover and annoying enough, but was confined their to the district the district and senator Ross, "was sover and annoying enough, but was confined their to the district and senator Ross, "was sover and annoying enough, but was confined their to the district and senator Ross, "was sover and annoying enough, but was confined their to the district and senator Ross, "was sover and annoying enough, but was confined their to the district and senator Ross."

cierical, politica', social or business life should teatify to the shill of these specialists. In there anything meritorious in the fact that Dr. Copeland unsters the informities of a clergyman, a Congramman, or a senator f To cure the disease of a king does not differ much from earling the discase of a man who was down borses. They are achievements of outsil merit. These fees being less than energight the naunl cost of treatment, the significance of testimodial expressions from the upper element, in distinction from those coming from the lower element (if you may please to use the phrases) is, that it forever wipes out the fallacy that superior skill must accessinte superior expense and greater entity of money.

The truth is, the best things on the planet cost nothing, and the next best things are comparatively inexpensive. Every time a man looks at a rainbow he gets something for acthing. Every time he quaffs a brook or bears a wood bird or amelie a wild rose he gets a good without cost. Every time he lights his parior with sunbeams or breathes the osone of bracing climates he receives a blewing free.

Again, every time a millionaire buys a postage stamp or reads a penny newspaper or rides in a cable car or eats wheat bread or sends a use-sage by a dart of lightning he makes eloqueut acknowledgment that the best reading in the world, the best food in the world, the best carriage and the best and swiftest messenger service in the world are so inexpensive that rich and poor are an equal terms in the main comferts of life.

The significance of personal commendation of the Copeland system from wealthy and influential people is simply in their showing that the treatment now provided for all is a treatment fit.
